HISTOIRE DE LA LOGIQUE ARABE

Post-Avicennan Logic
The making of a classic textbook : Katibi's Shamsiyya and its context.

Séminaire et cours donnés par Pr Tony Street (University of Cambridge)

Organisation : Ahmed Hasnaoui (SPHERE–CHSPAM, CNRS).

PROGRAMME (séances : 10 :00 – 12 :00)

mardi 4 décembre 2012, salle Klein (612B)
Aristotle Absent ? The structure of a thirteenth-century Arabic logic text Why al-Katibi's Shamsiyya is structured the way it is ?

---

vendredi 7 décembre, salle Luc Valentin (4th floor, 454A)
Medieval Arabic Logic : the state of the field.
An overview of medieval Arabic logic, and a list of the pressing tasks for scholars to move the field ahead

---

mercredi 12 décembre, salle Malevich (483A)
On the Actual in Thirteenth-century Arabic Logic.
An argument showing that recent research has misunderstood the way Arabic logicians consider the actual when stipulating truth-conditions for their propositions.

---

mardi 18 décembre, salle Klein (612B)
Reading Katibi's Proofs.
An argument showing that recent research has misunderstood the way Arabic logicians consider the actual when stipulating truth-conditions for their propositions.

---

jeudi 20 décembre, salle Malevich (483A)
On Tusi's Propositions and What They Correspond To.
A class on Tusi's use of the idea of correspondence in defining his propositions.

. . . .

Université Paris Diderot, bâtiment Condorcet (6e/4e étage, côté Seine), 4 rue Elsa Morante, 75013 - Paris. Plan.

Chspam SPHERE CNRS INSHS